

Hauni Richmond, Inc.
Richmond, Virginia
Maintenance Service Technician

Hauni Richmond, Inc., located in Richmond, Virginia, USA, is part of the Körber Group. The Körber Group, with headquarters located in Germany, is an international technology group with approximately 10,000 employees all over the world.

Hauni is the world's leading supplier of tobacco technologies, as well as providing technical and consulting services for the international tobacco industry. Hauni Richmond offers excellent salaries, benefits, challenging work, and professional growth. We are looking for a Maintenance Service Technician.

Tasks and Responsibilities for this position include:

- Provide support to customers on service products on site by assisting customer in performance of planned maintenance and performance of non-planned maintenance.
- Provide necessary production support when not assigned to maintenance jobs and report on improvements for maintenance interventions and unexpected conditions on serviced machines.
- Ability to tune and test equipment covered by the service program.
- Understand the maintenance intervention on the equipment under a long-term maintenance program.
- Sensitive to customer politics, unionized environment and have ability to work with a broad spectrum of personalities.
- Shift work may be required.

We are looking for someone that has:

- A high school diploma with a completed apprenticeship or equivalent education and practical experience with specialized training.
- At least three years' experience in the assembly of high-speed production or processing equipment.

Interested? Please submit your resume to: Jean H. Klele, jean.klele@hauni.com; Hauni Richmond, Inc., 2800 Charles City Road, Richmond, Virginia 23231.